Dear upper-intermediate group students,

In order to help fellow students at lower levels improve their speaking skills and establish a learning community in our department, we want to run a project called “Talk 2 Peer.”

The upper-intermediate group students who would like to take part in this project are expected to have about one session per week (a total of five sessions) with three to five students from lower levels and practice speaking on topics that are mostly parallel to the themes in course books or the ones suggested by the students. The participant students from the upper-intermediate group will be provided with a short initial training about the general flow of the sessions, the procedures and the roles of the students. Upon successful completion of the project at the end of the semester, the upper-intermediate group students who have taken part in this project will be provided with a recommendation letter by the Department of Basic English in return for their participation in this social responsibility project.

Those who are interested can sign up for the project either through their class instructors or by coming to the secretaries’ office. The numbers of the volunteer students at upper-intermediate group will determine the number of the participants at lower levels.

Thanks in advance for your interest.
